SPECIAL SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

The city fathers held a brief session last night, passing upon matters of immediate importance. Councilman C. J. Humphries being selected as president pro tem, President Browning being absent.

The street committee and the city engineer presented plans of Gibson avenue and Center street, also Thirty-second street, between Washington and Grant avenues and recommended that they be accepted and the various thoroughfares dedicated to the use of the city. The recommendations were unanimously adopted.

Employment Agency Wants License.
The application of W. O. Jones for the renewal of his license to conduct an employment agency at 143 Twenty-fifth street, was referred to the license committee and the city attorney.

There is a question with the council as to whether they can issue a license for an employment agency on Twenty-fifth street, in the face of the revised ordinances, which provide that it shall not be done. The application of Jones being for a renewal of a license, however, involves legal questions, with which the council is not ready to cope without the advice of the license committee and the city attorney.

The waterworks department presented a claim against the city for $2,330, claimed to be due the department for water furnished 175 fire hydrants during the year. The claim was allowed.

The action of the city treasurer in transferring from special to the general fund of the city $874.75 was unanimously confirmed.

Approve Mayor's Recommendation.
Mayor Giammarino stated that in June of the present year he recommended the redemption of five city bonds, but that only three were taken up. He suggested that the amount of the other two bonds, amounting to $2,000, now in the special fund be transferred to the general fund. The recommendation was adopted by the unanimous vote of the council.

Upon motion of Councilman Flygare, the auditor was instructed to draw warrants for ninety sewer bonds in favor of the Ogden State bank, provided that the city be given credit for six months' interest in advance. The bonds are worth $1,000 each. It being explained by Mr. Flygare that by paying the bonds in advance the city will save six months' interest on the indebtedness.

Special Funds for Expenses.
It appearing that there is not enough money in the special sidewalk funds to pay the engineering expenses was authorized that the auditor draw warrants on the special funds in favor of the general fund and that the indebtedness be paid when sufficient moneys have been received.

It was also decided that outstanding warrants against special funds of last year as well as the indebtedness against like funds of this year, be paid by the treasurer as fast as money for the particular funds is received.

AROUND WORLD
IN 16 MONTHS

In an effort to walk around the world in sixteen months, J. M. White, a resident of Fort Scott, Kan., reached Ogden yesterday and attracted considerable attention by carrying an American flag about the streets. This flag is three by four feet in size and the long-distance pedestrian claims he will carry it around the globe.

White left Fort Scott on September 17 and followed the line of the Union Pacific from Lawrence, Kan., to this city. So far he has averaged thirty miles a day. At Colorado Springs the man visited with a sister and celebrated his forty-first birthday. White expects all points of interest along his route and today he will make a trip through Ogden canyon.

He is making the long walk for the purpose of gathering data for a series of newspaper articles and lectures. At Fort Scott paper with a series of articles telling of his experiences along the route. Breaking through the ice and falling into the river is one of the thrilling experiences of White while he was passing through Wyoming.

The man is stockily built and appears to be possessed of the endurance qualities necessary for the arduous trip he has attempted. Over a suit of neat citizens' clothes White wears overalls and jumper. He claims to have worn out three pair of shoes while making the trip from Fort Scott to Ogden. On the front of White's hat is a small silk sunflower, symbolic of the state from which he hails, made by his sister, and across his breast is a ribbon bearing the words, "Around the World in 16 months."

The globe trotter will go to Salt Lake City upon leaving Ogden.

It seems likely that George B. Smith, of Ogden, will serve out his eight-year sentence in the Utah penitentiary for embezzlement, notwithstanding the confession of Edward Hoeven, in Chicago, Thursday, that he committed the crime of which Smith was convicted.

Hoeven was released from the Utah penitentiary last May. He had served a term for stealing a horse from F. J. Hendershot, of Ogden. A part of the time he was in the hospital receiving treatment for his eyes, and Smith was one of the nurses attending him. When he was paroled Smith loaned him $53 to return to Chicago.

Although he insists that he was held up and robbed of the $50 he was accused of embezzling while clerk of a hotel, Smith says that he does not think he ever saw Hoeven until he attended him in the prison hospital. Hoeven was known to the prison officers as a user of drugs.

Smith's record in the penitentiary is not praiseworthy. He has been in special confinement at least ten times for violation of prison rules.

SMALLPOX AT REFORM SCHOOL

Although an effort was made to keep the matter quiet, it has been learned that smallpox has broken out at the industrial school, and the girls' cottage has been quarantined in an effort to prevent the spread of the disease throughout the institution.

Margaret Massey, the girl wife who was committed to the school a few days ago, was taken sick on Wednesday and Dr. Dixon pronounced the disease smallpox. The school authorities took action at once, placing a strict quarantine on the girls' cottage.

Governor Spry and the trustees of the school were to have made their annual tour of inspection through the institution today, but as a result of the outbreak of smallpox the trip has been indefinitely postponed.

STATEMENT OF POLICE CHIEF

Chief of Police Thomas E. Browning was asked at the police station last evening for his version of the controversy between Attorney George Halverson, Ball Commissioner Anderson and himself, alleged to be due to the refusal of Mr. Anderson to turn over $75 to the attorney in the A. J. Simmons case.

Simmons was found guilty in the police court Friday of carrying concealed weapons and was fined $25. At the time of his arrest he had deposited $100 as a bond, and Attorney Halverson has been making an effort to secure the difference between the amount of the bond and the amount of the fine.

According to the chief of police, the attorney has so far failed to produce any authority to collect the $75 for Simmons or any right to take possession of a gun held by the police and claimed to be the property of the Spokane gambler. In stating this police side of the case, Chief Browning said:

Arrest of "Spokane."
"On December 15 a man by the name of A. J. Simmons, alias 'Spokane,' a notorious character, was arrested for disturbing the peace and carrying concealed weapons. His bond was placed at $100 and his trial set for December 17. Halverson asked the court to have the case continued until the 23rd. On Sunday, the 18th, Simmons sent a friend to the police station for his gun, with a message to the effect that he was going to leave town and would forfeit his bond. He stated that he had so notified his attorney."

"On Friday, December 23, Halverson appeared for Simmons, who, by the way, is 1,000 miles away—and entered a plea of guilty for his supposed client. The court imposed a fine of $25 and Halverson came rushing out of the court room and said, 'I want the $75 and the gun that belongs to Simmons.'"

Should Produce Power of Attorney.
"I told Halverson that it would be necessary to produce the power of attorney and an order from the court. He became infuriated when I made these remarks and threatened a lawsuit. He said that some day we would get into trouble; in fact, he became very abusive and disgusted nearly all present in the room. He again made a demand on Ball Commissioner Anderson this morning and threatened again if Anderson would not turn over to him the money and the gun."

"I called Mr. Anderson and the city attorney to my office immediately after Halverson made this demand and we were advised by the city attorney not to turn over the money or the gun until Halverson produced a letter from Simmons, showing that he is given the power of attorney. The city attorney pointed out that unless Attorney Halverson could come later and make a demand for his $75 and the ball commissioner would be compelled to return the amount."

Halverson is "Fussy."
"I wish to say that I feel it is my duty to protect the city's interests in such cases, and I fully expected that the city would be credited with the full amount of the bond in the case of only getting a fourth of the amount. I am sorry that Halverson is so fussy and quarrelsome. It seems to be his delight to get into a mixup with me. In fact, he is getting me somewhat in the habit of roasting him back, which is somewhat against my nature."

"I told Simmons' friend that the gun could be expressed to him when the ball was forfeited and the case disposed of, and that I could not give it to him at that time."

WOOL GROWERS
AGAINST POLICY

Resolutions denouncing the regulations of the forestry bureau and protesting against any change in the tariff on wool were adopted yesterday at Salt Lake by the Utah Wool Growers' convention. The first question was paramount, "for," as one delegate expressed it, "if the present forestry policy is continued we will have no wool to produce."

Homer W. Fenn, of the forestry service at Ogden, received a respectful hearing, but the dozen or more speakers who followed him scoffed at his arguments and declared again and again that the restrictions imposed from year to year on the use of the public range were ruining them and their industry. The protests of the organization were addressed to the National Wool Growers' association, the department of agriculture and the congressional delegation from this state.

SALT LAKE, Dec. 30.—From indications at the opening session of the Utah Woolgrowers' annual convention, which was called to order at Armory hall in this city at 2 o'clock this afternoon, the attendance at this year's convention will exceed all former gatherings of sheepmen in the state. The convention will continue through tomorrow, concluding with a business session and election of officers Saturday afternoon.

Representative sheepmen from all sections of the state where sheep are grazing are present at the convention. A number of papers on points of great importance to the flockmasters will be discussed during the meetings, and it is expected that not only will the discussions become heated, but

THIEVES STEAL VALUABLE DOGS

Following complaints that a number of valuable dogs have been stolen in this city, the local police are on the lookout for the thieves, who are said to carry on their work by the aid of an automobile. The automobile, it is said, belongs in Salt Lake City.

The plan followed by the dog catchers is to drive about the streets of the city until they come upon a dog which appears to be a valuable animal. The dog is then placed in the machine and the car is driven away before the owner of the dog has an opportunity to apprehend either the occupants or his stolen property.

David O. McKay is said to be one of the victims of the dog thieves. A dog valued at more than $100 is said to have been stolen near Mr. McKay's home a few days ago. Other and similar complaints have reached the police.

MINISTER IN MUSICAL SHOW

When "A Stubborn Cinderella" appears at the Ogden theater tomorrow night, the audience will see in the character of the college president, Rev. Dudley C. Fosher, a former minister of the gospel, and his wife as one of the chorus girls of the company.

From the church to the stage was the jump taken last week by the Rev. and Mrs. Dudley C. Fosher, of Woodlawn, a suburb of Chicago, where, until August 1, Rev. Mr. Fosher was pastor of the Ryder Memorial Universalist church at Sixty-fourth street and Kimbark avenue. For three years he held this pastorate until both himself and wife concluded that they just "couldn't make things go" any longer on the salary that the pastorate yielded. So the jumping-off place having been reached, they jumped and landed in the limelight of the stage and a little more publicity, perhaps, than they had bargained for, but then they both have "steady jobs" with steady salaries that are much in excess of the income yielded by the Ryder church pastorate, and both are happy in being together in their new work.

Mrs. Fosher is a chorus girl in the "Stubborn Cinderella" company, while the former exponent of the gospel takes the role of college president in the cast.

And as to costumes! Mrs. Fosher objects to neither tight nor abbreviated skirts. "Whatever people think of my costume doesn't bother me," said Mrs. Fosher. "I shall wear what ever my part in the play calls for. Both my husband and I are rather liberal about some things. We don't believe that the clothes of a chorus girl will send her to perdition or that a good man of the church is any better than a good man of the stage."

Rev. Mr. Fosher has an exceptionally fine voice, which, he hopes, will earn him a role that is really worth while.

INTERNATIONAL R. R.
COMMISSION ASSURED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—An international railway commission, with supervisory authority over railroads operating between the United States and Canada, is practically assured.

After long negotiations between the United States and Canada, a conclusion was reached that, in the course of a few months, regulatory authority will be extended over railway operations between the two countries.

Martin A. Knapp, chairman of the Interstate Commerce commission, and B. Mayble, chief of the railway commission of Canada, have been in conference for several days and reached an agreement last Wednesday. They called at the department of state today and presented their joint report. The text thereof is not available.

It is known, however, that they have agreed on an international railway commission, which shall have supervision over railway lines doing an international business between the two countries.

That is to extend to the regulation of freight and passenger rates and also to through rates and joint rates and through bills of lading between points in one country and to points in the other. The commission may be appointed by shippers or carriers in either country for relief from what they deem oppressive or excessive rates.

SALT LAKE POLICE WANT JIM GRIMS

According to information received from Salt Lake police, James Grims, who was arrested in this city a few nights ago, and who was suspected of having been implicated in the mail box robberies in this city, is wanted in the southern city on a felony charge, the exact nature of which is not known to the local authorities.

Grims answers completely the description of the man wanted at Salt Lake, and when he was told of the charge hanging over his head, he was visibly affected by the information. The Salt Lake county sheriff will arrive today for the purpose of taking Grims back for trial.

It was definitely learned yesterday that George Miller, the man arrested while attempting to communicate with the city jail prisoners Thursday evening, is a partner of Grims. That he was attempting to smuggle a gun to Grims the local police are certain. He will probably be arraigned on the charge of carrying concealed weapons.
